

The role of research in EU hydrogen policy

Paul Hodson

Abstract

With its hydrogen strategy of 2020, the European Commission set ambitious goals to develop the use of green hydrogen, particularly in heavy industry and heavy transport. Research and technology development are essential to achieve these goals. This presentation will set out the main lines that need to be pursued.